Areas of expertise

Farhana provides strategic planning advice to clients and has worked across a variety of sectors including residential, infrastructure, mixed use redevelopment and land promotion. She is involved in all aspects of the planning process from due diligence to project management where she coordinates multidisciplinary teams in the delivery of major planning applications and appeals. Prior to moving into the planning industry, Farhana worked in civil litigation. During this time, she dealt with complex and contentious legal issues and carried out all phases of litigation from investigation, pleadings, negotiation of settlements, trials and appeals. This background allows her to understand the legal system and provide innovative solutions to optimise outcomes.

Key experience

Land south of Stoke Road – reserved matters application for 200 units in Hoo. Farhana coordinated the consultant team and responded to comments received during the consultation stage and is currently preparing for planning committee.
